FARM TO TABLE

MISSION

Farm-to-Table is an exciting opportunity to see sustainable agriculture, child nutrition, and agribusiness in action in Haiti.

During your trip to Mission of Hope, you will have the opportunity to:

- Meet with Mission of Hope's lead Agronomist and hear firsthand about the agricultural history and strategy MOH is using to assist local farmers.
- Visit a farming community and test plots to learn how the program is benefiting local farmers through education and seed investments.
- Visit a school or orphanage in the HaitiOne Nutrition Program to understand how food is cooked and served and experience the life change these types of meals provide for the children of Haiti.
- Have an extended tour of the MOH warehouse and learn more about the nutrition program supply chain and distribution.
- Package Haitian grown crops into meals in the MOH meal packing area.

FINANCIAL SUMMARY

The typical cost for a Farm-to-Table activity is $4,000 which is used to purchase food from Haiti's farmers as well as buy packaging supplies for your team, and cover all mobilization and transportation costs. This investment allows you to purchase and pack enough food to feed a typical Haitian school for 6 months!

In order to reserve the food, these projects must be reserved in advance. Join us in providing life transforming opportunities to the people of this beautiful nation!
